

One of the exciting journeys that your little one will experience, at St Marys, is our weekly Forest School Sessions.

Forest school gives children the opportunity to try new things, develop confidence and build self-esteem, through hands on learning, in our own outdoor learning space.

Together, we will learn about our natural surroundings, experience the seasons and take part in nature inspired activities. The sessions compliment and support other areas of the early years curriculum.

Our mornings outdoors will include nature and teamwork games, bug hunting, den building, mud kitchen, natural painting, digging and themed learning activities. We will come together for a woodland story and snack and always finish our sessions by discussing what we enjoyed and showing appreciation for each other and our natural world.

Forest school sessions are led by myself, Kate Johnson (Acorn to Oak – Woodland Learning), a Forest School accredited Practitioner.

I am really looking forward to getting to know your children and starting this special journey together.
